

Adam Kaplan comes to The Center Skating Academy specializing in choreography, jump technique, off-ice training, and Edge class as he continues to perform in shows around the world. During his amateur career, he competed nationally and internationally in Pairs and Singles. Adam took a four year hiatus to finish his college education and pursue an opportunity to direct an ice skating program in Dundalk, Ireland, the first ice rink in the country in 10 years. Upon returning from Ireland, Adam began his professional skating career. He skated his first principal soloist position for Woodstock Ice Productions, followed by three years touring Europe as a soloist for Holiday on Ice. He has skated in over 20 contracts with professional companies, such as Holiday on Ice, Dynamic Shows, Royal Caribbean in association with Willy Bietak Productions, Rosstyn Ice Rinks and Designs, Woodstock Ice Productions, Ice Cold Combos, Rand Productions, Ice Dance International, and Sun Valley Ice shows. During his time between contracts, he continues to teach on-ice and off-ice classes all around the US. He enjoys taking all kinds of movement classes on and off the ice to further his skating education and even started his own skating academy based on learning through class structure and workshops called "Showstopper Performance & Training Academy". Adam is currently skating with and teaching for Ice Dance International (IDI) and Sun Valley Summer Ice Shows in Sun Valley, Idaho as well as coaching at The Center Skating Academy and is mentored by Doug Webster and Stephanie Grosscup.
